

PRINT AND SEND: VALENTINE GREETINGS

Perhaps this year you find yourself feeling a little allergic to the store-bought cards littered with semi-obnoxious cartoon characters (you may or may not even recognize). Or maybe you just find that it is the night before the big day and you didn't quite manage to craft a set of handmade valentines for all those folks that you like so very much. Either way these easy printables could be just the thing.

To use them, print the following pages and cut the cards along the solid lines. Then doodle them up, write sweet sentiments, sketch a tiny declaration of love. That sort of thing. If you like, cut out the matching envelope templates for your chosen cards, and turn them into envelopes for your valentines by folding on the dotted lines and using a bit of glue to secure all but the top flap.

candy for me,
okay?
